British Planes at Hong Kong

Following the recent fall of Canton to the Chinese Communists, small detachments of regular Red troops moved ahead to reach the frontier of Hong Kong, British crown colony and island fortress. Long before the Communists got that close, the British began to pour reinforcements into the island. This is a scene at a Hong Kong airfield as British military planes warm up for a takeoff to scan the skies around their domain.

SPORTSMEN'S BILL, BROUGHT TO WRONG LEGISLATIVE BODY.

Essex County Sportsmen's Association Windsor Branch, comprising about eighteen hundred members was recently very much interested in a Bill brought before the House by a private member having to do with the Pollution of Navigable Waters. The story behind the Bill is that around Toronto one of the large corporations there was permitting refuse to flow into the lake which had some oily substance and naturally would float on top of the water. This all therefore, collected on the beaches of lake Ontario creating a very obnoxious condition. Several saw mills also permitted sawdust, bark shavings etc. to flow into small streams and hence into navigable waters. I believe all the members who spoke on the Bill including myself were in favour of the principle of the Bill but obviously it was brought before the wrong Legislative Body. The correct place to have introduced the measure should have been in the Provincial Legislature.

However, as I pointed out to the House in the few remarks I made, that the Bill would bring to focus a very unsatisfactory condition and by the publicity afforded the measure, would arouse the public through newspapers, radios and other means of communication to the condition which has to be corrected. With the public aroused to the need the legislators will certainly

ACTIVE BUSINESS

Our dynamic little business woman, Alma Brodeur, is again in the news. This time she is offering a price reduction of 20 per cent or more, on the entire stock.

Since its opening, ten months ago, Alma's Jewellery store has proved a convenience to her customers, and a very real asset to the community.

Mrs Brodeur's previous experience (eleven years) in the jewellery business, combined with her driving ambition to bring to her customers all the quality and service to be had in the best Windsor stores has brought to LaSalle the best in workmanship and design.

It is her intention to clear outmost of the present stock during the sale - to make room for a entirely new line - the ones you have asked to see in time for xmas.

Alma's Jewellery will continue to carry high quality goods at slightly lower price; and in the future Alma will travel to Montreal and Toronto to personally choose her stock. Her desire is to give prompt efficient service, best quality goods, - extend the lines and increase the variety.

act without delay. I also pointed out the desirability of Corporation probing the possibility of salvaging such of the refuse that they are now throwing away. Numerous instances could be cited of large corporations adding to their revenue considerably by doing a little chemical research and making the expenditure of a small amount of capital in retrieving valuable substances which are now polluting our streams. I believe that if Municipal Organizations, Industrial Concerns and the Public will co-operate much of the unsatisfactory Pollution of our navigable streams can be eliminated.

RADIO SPEECH

October 12, 1949.

Mr. Don Brown M.P. in a radio speech, recently, had the following to say in connection with his work as our member of Parliament at Ottawa -

A Bill which has received much consideration and caused considerable discussion in the House was brought in recently by a private member. It was to amend the Criminal Code, having to do with the portrayal of crime by pictures in magazines, comic sheets, etc., these are alleged to have the tendency of including violence, especially among juveniles. All of the speakers condemned the publication and sale of so-called comic sheets which glow.

Miss Port Hope for this year, 17-year-old Jean Dunne, actually comes from Port Hope. She was chosen recently at the Port Hope Agricultural Fair. Entries came from many parts of the district, but this was the first time a home town girl has been chosen in several years.

rify crime and depict sordid scenes. I, however, was very much impressed by one speaker Mr. T. H. Goode who is one of the new members from British Columbia. He had recently been a member of a school board and is an active member of a Parent-Teacher's Association, that is what we call a Home and School Association, of which I, too, am a member. He left that it was not the attitude of the Home and School Clubs to condemn every child who read crime comics and every mother and father of such a child, but he did feel from his experience that a child only reflected the ability of that father or mother to take care of their home. He did not believe that crime magazines had ever hurt the child whose mother and father take an intelligent view of the comics.

He found that after sitting in on hearings of Juvenile Courts that because that the mothers and fathers did not take the proper interest in their children that the so-called crime comics affected the lives of the young people.

It would seem to me that this is very true. There is a tendency on the part of us, as adults, and as mothers and fathers to look to some outside agency as a guiding principle for our children instead of clothing our children at home with a garment of love and security, patience and tolerance, kindness and generosity.

As we strengthen and improve the home life of Canadians we have no reason to fear crime comics or any other evil influence.

I was recently reading in one one of the magazines what had been said by a judge of a Municipal Court in one of the cities in the United States. He was making a comment on comics, and movies and their effect upon Juvenile Delinquency. He said that there is no one thing that is more defective re-arming our children morally than the doing of good things together. He said, quote—"That includes going with children to the movies instead of sending them alone, listening to the radio together, reading comics together, and it goes without saying going to church together. One of the casualties of modern life is family group living. By reconstituting it we shall give strength to our children in meeting the hazards of life."—and quote, personally I get quite a kick out of reading good clean comic with my own boy.

Orillia Seeks Marauding Bears

Although black bears are rare in southern Ontario, reports that they have been attacking stock have caused residents of Orillia, Ont., to start loading their rifles. One such elusive animal, with two of its cubs, was seen wandering through backyard of Joan and Sylvia Stanley (left) who are looking at tracks. Another of the marauders was found guilty of stealing three of farmer Murdock Johnson's chickens.

YOUTH CENTER

The LaSalle Youth Center held their general meeting last Sunday afternoon Oct. 23, at the Town Hall and was attended by a very nice crowd—but not to the extent of the people that were supposed to be interested in the youth movement in LaSalle.

The election of Officers held at the time of meeting were; President, Mr. Mickey Gignac. Vice President, Mr. Noe Mailloux. Secretary Mr. L. J. Lefaive. Treasurer Sadie Howitt. Agriculture Department Ferdinand Chappus Sr. Sports Lee Arbour. Parade and Games Wm. McLeod. Boxing Mgr. Ernest Bergeron. Concessions Mr. Eugene Mayrand. Grounds Mgr. Jack Briggs. Advertising Mgr. Bob Smith and Eldon Dawson.

There will be a executive meeting on Oct. 30, at 2 p.m. for the executive committee. We would be pleased to see the men interested in this project turn out and see that this enterprise goes the limit for a bigger and better Youth Center.

Fashions

Four envelope pockets placed slantwise on the bodice and at the hips lend interest to this most attractive wool dress. It is the sort of thing that carries a woman unobtrusively yet very smartly through an active day. The fabric is a tissue thin wool in winter navy, nice on its own or with furs now, under a fur coat later. The navy suede belt has a gilt buckle. The high neckline is notched at the centre. A fully flared skirt completes the outfit.

PARKERS ARE FINED

Revenue hungry cities are so busy grabbing parking violators that they are letting serious traffic offenders go free, declares Albert Q. Maisel in the Reader's Digest for November. In city after city, Maisel charges, police and the courts have ganged up on the least dangerest of traffic-law breakers - the harassed salesman and the busy housewife who violate parking ordinances, though these motorist are guilty of little more serious duties to spend their days ticketing parked cars.

In an article condensed from Kiwanis Magazine, Maisel contends that official over eagerness to punish parking violators has resulted in sharply increased driving offenses of much more serious nature. Since the campaign to soak the parker has more than doubled the already overwhelming burden of traffic cases judges are so occupied with these trivial violations that they have little time to deal with speeders, drunken drivers, and even hit-and-run offenders.

In most cities, Maisel charges, serious offenders are "all too easily written off the books in a flood of dismissals and ridiculous small fines." Cases of highway slaughter, resulting from careless or drunken driving, which have been punished by fines as low as $75. or a "slap-on-the-wrist license suspension of 90 days", are cited. Such record, the author holds, go a long way toward explaining why 32,000 people are killed and 1,100,000 others maimed on American highways each year.

New York's police, conducting a "savage drive" against parkers for the past 18 months, ticketed 83,800 more parking violators last year than last year before. But in the same period they caught 8,270 fewer speeders 6,807 fewer drivers who ran through red lights. As a result, accidents, injuries, and deaths have all increased in 1940 over the previous year, and New York has fallen into last place, in street safety ratings, among the largest U.S. cities.

Chicago, on the other hand, in a "selective enforcement" drive in which serious traffic offenses are given police priority, reduced its traffic death total nearly 20 per cent in the last year.
